SUFFRAGE'S CHIEF WILL RESIGN POST.

Dr. Shaw to Retire as Head of Suffrage Association.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw will not be a candidate for re-election to the presidency of the National American Woman Suffrage association. After eleven years of continuous service as chief executive she has announced her retirement from future office in order to devote her entire time to campaign work in the states where suffrage is on the eve of submission to the polls.

For thirty years Dr. Shaw has been one of the most conspicuous figures in the fight for suffrage. She has journeyed everywhere in the United States, has endured hardships to reach remote districts, has helped to bear the burden in every campaign which has carried or lost a state.

The struggle this year in New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, when more than a million votes were cast for woman suffrage, has been the most illuminating in her experience, Dr. Shaw says, and the lessons of this campaign, in which 198 speeches stand to her credit, decided her that field work rather than executive labor offers her the widest possibilities for the help of the cause.

The National Woman Suffrage association will hold its convention in Washington from Dec. 14 to 19. It has appealed to the Democratic and Republican national chairmen for a hearing to present arguments for a suffrage plank in the national platforms. Several noted suffragettes have been mentioned as a successor to Dr. Shaw, among them Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, Mrs. Winston Churchill and Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw.

INDIAN FIGHTER RETIRED.
 Major General William H. Carter Enlisted When a Mere Lad.
 Major General William H. Carter, U. S. A., who has been in command of the Hawaiian military department, has been retired on account of age.

He is one of the medal of honor men in the army. There was a fight with the Apaches on Cibola creek, Ariz., Aug. 30, 1881, and during it Carter, who was then a first lieutenant of the Sixth cavalry, by taking "one chance in a thousand" saved the lives of several wounded men and won for himself the medal which it is the desire of every soldier to merit.

He was born in Davidson county, Tenn., in 1851, and joined the Army of the Cumberland while a schoolboy. Before he was thirteen years old he won recognition for gallantry by carrying a message across the front of a line of fire. After the civil war he entered West Point and after graduation was assigned to the west, where he won fame as an Indian fighter. During the Spanish war he was held on duty at the war department, and he is accredited with having a large part in the formation of the general staff system. Later he served in the Philippines and was in command of the troops that suppressed the Pulajan insurrection. Returning to the United States, he served again in the west and was sent to Honolulu in January, 1914.

Hot Winds.
 The scorching blow from the highlands of north Africa and falls on the Mediterranean as far as Malta. The salino jumps like a windy fireball from the heat of the Sahara desert and lands flatfooted in Spain. The harrowing Atlantic blows hot Sahara dust far into the Atlantic and gives nosebleed and makes skin and lips parch and crack, while furniture and ship timbers groan and crack and scream in an agony of droughty despair. The khamsin blows Sahara's ancient dust into Egyptian eyes every fifty days. The pampers periodically blow down into Buenos Aires out of the unexplored desert highlands of Brazil, and the blowing causes suicides and murders to be more common and wounds to break out afresh, with a heavy death rate. Pampers pass away in a second, leaving the air fine.—Exchange.

Painter and Pawnbroker.
 Mr. Frank Brangwyn, A. R. A., knows his Paris as well as most, and also a good many more out of the way parts of the world besides—Russia, Spain, Algiers, Turkey and the rest—which he has visited in the pursuit of his art, more especially during his earlier days, when he was less affluent than today, in which latter connection he once had an amusing experience. During a financial crisis he sought to effect a loan of $50 on the security of one of his own pictures. The pawnbroker offered $250, to the artist's indignation. "Why, the frame alone is worth more than that," he protested, to be met with the crushing reply, "I know it is, and it is on the frame that I am lending the money."—Westminster Gazette.

A Japanese Breakfast.
 The usual Japanese breakfast consists of rice, miso, soup, pickles and occasionally fish. Tea is always served with meals and is drunk clear, without sugar or cream. Miso soup consists of strips of radishes, seaweed, eggplant or other vegetables cooked with bean curd and water. The cooking is not continued for a long period, and so few vegetables are used that the soup partakes only slightly of the flavor of the ingredients.

A Whistling Moth.
 A whistling moth is an Australian rarity. There is a glassy space on the wings crossed with ribs. When the moth wants to whistle it strikes these ribs with its antennae, which have a knob at the end. The sound is a love call from the male to the female.

A Last Resort.
 "Can't you do anything at all for my hair?"
 "Nope," said the barber. "Hair all gone."
 "But my dome shines like a newly starched collar. Can't you give it a sort of dull finish?"—Exchange.

Unexpected.
 Bill—Did you ever try to stand on an egg?
 Jim—Oh, yes.
 "And what did you learn?"
 "That the inside of the egg was stronger than the outside."—Philadelphia Record.

Psychology.
 Psychology is the science of explaining why the time between weekly pay days seems longer than the period from one monthly gas bill to the next.—Toledo Blade.

Worse Still.
 "I have a wife who is like a bird that can sing and won't."
 "You're lucky. Mine can't sing and will."—Baltimore American.

The Torch of Civilization.

In the history of civilization first one nation arises and becomes the torch bearer and then another takes the torch as it becomes stronger, the stronger always pushing the weaker aside and becoming in its turn the leader. Each nation that has borne the torch of civilization has followed some path peculiarly its own. Egyptian, Syrian, Persian, Greek, Roman, Frank, all had their ideal of power—order and progress directed under supreme authority, maintained by armed organization. We Anglo-Saxons bear the torch of civilization because we possess the principles of civil liberty, and we have the character, or should have the character, which our fathers have transmitted to us, with which to uphold it. If we have not, then be sure that with the certainty of a law of nature some nation—it may be one or it may be another—already knocking at our doors, will push us from the way and take the torch and bear it onward, and we shall go down.—Thomas Nelson Page.

Classification of Stars.
 In classifying stars astronomers recognize six degrees of magnitude, but the term relates to radiance or brilliancy rather than to size. Although the classification is somewhat arbitrary, yet each degree of magnitude is approximately two and a half times as brilliant as a star of the next magnitude below. Then, too, each magnitude is about three times more numerous than the one which precedes it. Beginning with the brightest, there are visible without a glass about twenty stars of the first magnitude, about sixty-five of the second magnitude, nearly 200 of the third magnitude, over 400 of the fourth magnitude, about 1,100 of the fifth and over 3,000 of the sixth. The total number of stars that can be seen by the unaided eye is about 5,000, but not all at one time. This takes no account of the millions, perhaps hundreds of millions, in regions of space that cannot be reached by the unaided eye.

EAT A SQUARE MEAL AND NOT FEAR INDIGESTION

There are hundreds of people in Ashland who were not the least bit surprised when they read in the Tidings that McNair Bros. are selling Mi-o-na on a guarantee to refund the money in case it did not relieve. This remarkable dyspepsia remedy will relieve the worst case of indigestion, headache, dizziness, or the general played-out condition that afflicts every one suffering with stomach trouble. Mi-o-na does not simply relieve, it aims to cure.

McNair Bros. can tell you of many well known people in this city who this remedy has restored to health, often after they have tried many other methods of treatment with little or no benefit. No other dyspepsia remedy has made so large a percentage of cures as Mi-o-na. It is so large that McNair Bros. stand ready to refund the price to any customer whom it does not help.

The best kind of advertising is the praise of a pleased customer, and there are hundreds in Ashland today praising Mi-o-na because it does what it is advertised to do. A few months ago they could eat nothing without wondering what the result would be. Since using Mi-o-na they eat what they want and when they want with no fear of suffering.
